Do

You could visit the Natural History Museum's Volcanoes and Earthquakes Gallery. Or how about the Science Museum's exhibits on the environmental impacts of human activity, and strategies for sustainable, low-carbon living.

If you're a fan of Minecraft why not recreate a coastal location or sustainable city using Minecraft blocks? Here's an example of a city built in Minecraft for inspiration.

How about comparing countries' energy strategies? Choose two countries with different energy approaches e.g. China and USA and research them to compare their energy mix, their level of energy security, and sustainability.
